Imo Blu Code

The Code of Practice for the Safe Loading and Unloading of Bulk Carriers (BLU Code) was developed with the aim of preventing accidents or loss of ships carrying solid bulk cargoes as a result of improper loading and unloading practices. The Code was adopted by the Assembly in November 1997 by resolution A.862 (20).

BLU Code and BLU Manual

The Draft Code of Practice for the Safe Loading and Unloading of Bulk Carriers (BLU Code) The BLU Code was developed in 1996 with the aim of preventing accidents or loss of ships carrying solid bulk cargoes as a result of improper loading and unloading practices. Then it was reviewed by Maritime Safety Committee.

BLU Code and BLU Manual

The BLU Code has been developed by IMO to minimise losses of bulk carriers. The purpose of the Code is to assist persons responsible for the safe loading or unloading of bulk carriers to carry out their functions and to promote the safety of bulk carriers.
