The 1200 Leica do not do as well in bright sun as cloudy days, but they always reach 800 yards. The optics are better on Leica. I wish I had scan, but I purchased mine before it was available. Oh, one thing that might interest you. I purchased mine while on a trip, so while my wife shopped I sat in the parking lot and played with my new and old rangefinder. The Bushnells would range through my ...

The Leica CRF 1200 Rangefinder design fits in the hand and slips into the pocket quite easily. The 7x magnification provides enough power for its application. Similarly, the 24 mm objective lens offers superior optical performance even in poor lighting conditions. Don't forget the phase correction prism coatings that allows for razor-sharp images across the entire field of view. This ...
